Ambassador Spotlight

American Family Insurance – Darrin Eilander Agency
Agent Assistant

MARY MURTAUGH

Working in the insurance industry can be a challenge. Typically, the first thing that comes to mind is a pushy salesperson, which can make it tough. As a Licensed Professional, I hope to change that mindset. I like to collaborate with my customers in customizing a risk management plan that is best suited to their needs. It is a rewarding day for me when my customers understand and are confident with the insurance choices that they make.

What do you like about being an Ambassador?

I enjoy being an Ambassador because it provides an opportunity to meet new people, while making those professional connections where I can confidently endorse other businesses.

How has membership in the Chamber helped you and your business?

Darrin Eilander AmFam Agency has been active in the Chamber for years, which enables the business to actively partake in events and to network among folks we may never otherwise encounter.

What is your favorite Chamber event or program to attend and why?

As an Ambassador, I have come to value the Business After Hours events with the Chamber, it's a formal way to informally interact and build relationships. Being an active member helps us to meet demanding sales goals while growing the book of business in a more organic way...which at the end of the day is the intention of every businessman.

Ambassador Spotlight

MFS Consulting, LLC
Owner

MOLLIE FRIDERES-SMITH

I am the founder and owner of MFS Consulting, LLC for HR consulting and professional development coaching. I collaborate with businesses to develop and communicate policies and train employees. Services provided can include specific projects or day-to-day work to supplement staff.

What do you like about being an Ambassador?

I like being an Ambassador for the Ankeny Chamber of Commerce because I get to meet so many people. I also get to collaborate with a great group of people who are excited about Ankeny. As an Ambassador, I get a front row seat when new businesses open and we welcome businesses as members of the Chamber.

How has membership in the Chamber helped you and your business?

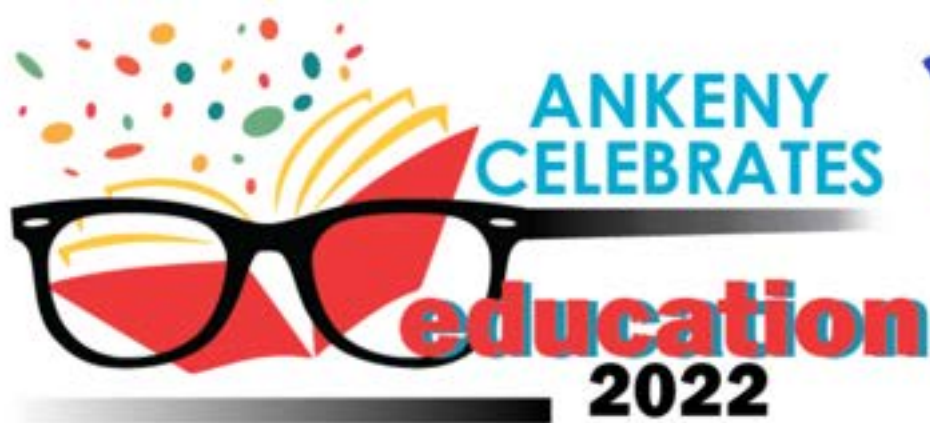

I appreciate the resources I get as a member of the Ankeny Chamber and the new connections I've made. The Chamber provides multiple opportunities for members to connect and meet other people to grow their business networks.

As a Chamber member, I also have the opportunity to get more involved in the community by working on various committees. I've attended some of the professional development programs the Chamber has offered and learned valuable information I can use in my business.

What is your favorite Chamber event or program to attend and why?

A couple of events I like attending are Lattes and Leads and the Ribbon Cuttings. I've met some great people at these events. Lattes and Leads is always in a different location so we get to see a variety of businesses. I enjoy the conversations while having some good coffee in the morning. The Ribbon Cuttings have such a fun energy when a new business is opening or moving.

4 THINGS CURRENTLY IN YOUR YARD THAT ARE ATTRACTING MOSQUITOES

Mosquitoes are a constant nuisance to both you and your property. As the weather continues to heat up and as we experience more rainfall here in Iowa, more mosquitoes are starting to come out and breed. If you're noticing a lot of mosquitoes in your yard, you may unknowingly have things in your yard that are attracting them. Some things that mosquitoes are attracted to include standing water, piles of debris, overgrown vegetation, and tall grass. By not removing or tending to these things in your yard, you're making your yard the perfect nesting ground for mosquitoes by giving them multiple places to hide and breed.

1. STANDING WATER

The first thing you'll want to address to help reduce the mosquito population on your lawn is to get rid of any standing water. Stagnant water is the place where mosquitoes go to breed. Mosquito larvae can survive in even the shallowest pool of water. While it may be impossible to remove every ounce of water on your lawn, taking care of problematic areas is a great way to get a handle on the mosquito population on your property.

Specifically, you'll want to empty things like buckets, containers, and empty flowerpots of any stagnant water to limit the number of places mosquitoes can breed in your yard. You'll either want to store these inside a shed or your home, but if you plan to keep them outside, turn them upside down to limit the amount of water they hold. Even tiny things like plastic bags can retain water in them, so you'll want to make sure you remove these types of items from your lawn as they tend to retain enough water for mosquitoes to use as a breeding ground.

2. PILES OF DEBRIS

Piles of debris not only make your lawn look cluttered and messy, but they also act as the perfect shelter for mosquitoes during the day. Mosquitoes like to take refuge in cool, shaded areas to protect themselves from the wind and the sun. By removing piles of debris, you can reduce the mosquitoes on your lawn since they do not have as many places to hide or reproduce.

3. OVERGROWN VEGETATION

During the day, mosquitoes like to rest in shaded areas. Much like piles of debris, overgrown vegetation provides mosquitoes with the shelter they desire from the sun and wind. Dense vegetation tends to retain moisture, and it creates a nice, shaded environment for the mosquitoes to hang around and potentially breed in your yard. Trimming overgrown vegetation can make your yard an undesirable place for mosquitoes by drastically reducing the number of places they can take shelter.

4. TALL GRASS

The last thing that can attract mosquitoes to your yard is tall grass. When your grass is overgrown, it provides mosquitoes with shaded areas to stay and breed. Taller grass shades the soil from the sun, helping it retain moisture and keeping the temperatures cooler, making it the ideal area for mosquitoes. Mow your grass regularly to cut off many of the shaded areas mosquitoes can use to hide by exposing your soil to the sun. This can help keep mosquitoes off your yard as they go and look for other shadier areas to infest.

JUNETEENTH Festival

Saturday, June 18 | 3pm - 10pm
at The District at Prairie Trail

Juneteenth is a celebration of American history. It marks the day when federal troops arrived in Texas to free all enslaved people, two and a half years after the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation. Today, we celebrate Juneteenth by not only continuing to fight racism, but also by highlighting Black culture. This is our 2nd year celebrating in Ankeny, and we are expanding after a wonderful turnout at last year's event.

As our nation and local community prioritizes and invests in Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion, support of this event allows us all to take steps toward racial reconciliation. Support and participation in this Juneteenth celebration will help to build a bridge of awareness, acknowledgment, and acceptance that is needed both here in our community and across the country.
